

PEOPLE

New and improved

Snowmass Village has assumed a whole new sense of hipness this season with vast improvements made both on the slopes and the mall. With sleek accommodations at Starwood's Westin Snowmass and Wildwood Snowmass combined with SkiCo's spectacular Elk Camp restaurant, there are even more reasons to ski, do après-ski and stay the night.

MOUNTAIN MAYHEM
MAY SELBY

As part of a $50 million redevelopment to the upper Snowmass Village this year, Wildwood Snowmass has been transformed completely into a retro-chic lodge. The 153 guest rooms and inviting gathering areas are festooned in colorful fabrics, cozy furnishings and nostalgic décor, from Snoopy needlepoints to vintage photo collages. A fitness center, outdoor pool, hot tubs, arcade, Steven Alan clothing kiosk and New Belgium beer hall round out the amenities.

Across the street, the Westin Snowmass offers a fresh take on the former Silvertree Hotel. The ski-in/ski-out hotel's plush amenities feature 254 renovated rooms and suites, new restaurants and a spa and fitness center. The Westin's trademarked Heavenly Bed and Bath line leaves guests feeling rejuvenated or, as intended, to feel better than they did upon arrival.

Easily accessed by the Elk Camp gondola is the all-new Elk Camp Restaurant run by Chef Andrew Helsley, where breakfast and lunch are served daily, and Ullr nights will take place Fridays from Dec. 28 through March 29. In honor of Ullr, the Norse god of Snow, Elk Camp will become a nighttime winter wonderland with live bands, a sledding hill, s'mores roasting by a bonfire, ice skating on Rayburn's Pond and more.

For more information on all there is to explore in Snowmass this season, visit www.snowmass.com and www.aspensnowmass.com.

To send info, insight or invites, email allthewaymaymay@hotmail.com.

Mixologist Shawn Gallus serves up a cocktail at Elk Camp.

Todd Hartley and Cindy Hirschfeld at Elk Camp.

Barbara Platt unwinds at Elk Camp's sleek new bar.

Leah Fielding, Meredith McKee, Ben Anderson and Megan Lynch at Wildwood Snowmass.

The Westin's ski-in/ski-out restaurant, the Snowmass Kitchen, serves breakfast, lunch and dinner.

The Westin's trademarked Heavenly Beds are simply inviting.

Chef Andrew Helsley at Elk Camp.